Christmas fairy tale. Spirits of Christmas. 2: Rise of the DamnedAqua Teen Forever: PlantasmBring It On: Cheer or Die It tells the story of a group of friends who decide to go snowmobiling during winter break. They get "wrong direction", get lost in a storm and seek refuge in an abandoned sanatorium. They are completely isolated by the storm and are grateful to be out of the elements. But the sanatorium has a troubled past: some of its former patients still live there and are unhappy about the intrusion. College students must fight to survive the night in a deadly game of cat and mouse. McElroy. The series consists of seven slasher films, six of which share the same continuity, and one reboot film. The first six films focus on various families of deformed cannibals who cruelly hunt and kill people in West Virginia using a mixture of traps and weapons. The reboot deals with a centuries-old Virginian cult that has responded violently to alien intrusions into their self-sufficient civilization. Chris Flynn (Desmond Harrington) has to make a detour after a chemical spill on the road. He turns the wrong way and collides with another vehicle, which was already one of the miners' road traps. Seeking help in the hut of three monstrous highlanders, they are hunted down one by one. In the end, Chris and Jessie Burlingame (Eliza Dushku) survive. Wrong Turn 2: Dead End (2007) Main article: Wrong Turn 2: Dead End The second film introduces the new cannibals: Mom, Dad, Brother and Sister. Three Fingers and the Old Man are the only returning characters from the first film. This time, the cannibals hunt down a group of reality TV contestants taking part in a survival reality show. Wrong Turn 3: Left for Dead (2009) Main article: Wrong Turn 3: Left for Dead Wrong Turn 3: Left for Dead is a group of corrections officers and convicts. Recurring character Three Fingers crashes into a transport bus, allowing the inmates to escape and capture the surviving prison guards Nate (Tom Fredericks) and Walter (Chucky Venn). While on the run, the convicts and their captors come across a missing truck carrying thousands of dollars, as well as Alexa Miles (Janet Montgomery), who has been missing in the woods since Three Fingers killed the rest of her friends. Chavez eventually kills Three Fingers (Three Finger's nephew). Three Fingers finds Three Fingers' severed head, which infuriates him. He builds a shrine and leaves the head in his cabin. The only survivor Brandon convinces Nate of his innocence and is stuckNate later returns to the truck to steal the money Chavez is after. But Brandon shoots him in the back with a bow and arrow and takes the money for himself. An unknown cannibal approaches Brandon from behind and beats him with a crude stick, killing him and leaving Alex as the sole survivor. Wrong Turn 4: A Bloody Beginning (2011) Main article: Wrong Turn 4: A Bloody Beginning This film tells the story of the first three killers and shows their childhood. It also tells the story of three brothers. The story follows a group of nine teenagers who take a wrong turn while snowmobiling in search of their cabin. They end up in an old, abandoned insane asylum where Three-finger, Sawtooth and One-Eye still live. The friends decide to spend the night in an insane asylum and are attacked by wandering brothers. At the end of the film, all nine teenagers are dead. The film served as a prequel to the first film. Wrong Turn 5: Bloodlines (2012) Main article: Wrong Turn 5: Bloodlines Maynard is a serial killer who has been on the run for over thirty years and is now with three cannibal brothers. He repeatedly calls them "my boys" and his relatives. During the movie, the brothers try to break Maynard out of prison and kill the students and Sheriff Angela Carter (Camila Arfwedson) while the rest of the town is at a festival. The film ends with Maynard and the three brothers escaping, capturing Lita (Roxanne McKee), a blind young student. All cannibals are hostile to the characters they encounter and show no pity for their victims. Cannibals are portrayed as mute but display the ability to communicate with each other. They also demonstrate mental ability to operate machines and vehicles. Cannibals stay together in groups and appear to be the result of inbreeding. Three Finger Three Finger is the main antagonist of the Wrong Turn film series. He is a cannibal with major physical deformities caused by the toxic chemicals he was exposed to at birth along with his two brothers. He is a skilled trap maker, making his traps so well they often kill his victims before he can inflict horrific acts of violence on them. He made his first appearance alongside his two brothers in Wrong Turn (2003), attacking medical student Chris Flynn and a group of friends.Jessie Burlingham, Carly Marquez, Scott, Evan and Francine. However, at the end of the film, Three Fingers manages to survive as he is last seen killing a sheriff's deputy while investigating the crashed cabin. However, his brothers were probably dead. In Wrong Turn 2: Dead End, he is seen killing Kimberly by cutting her in half with the help of a cannibalistic family member's brother. He and the mutant family then launch a brutal attack on the other contestants, successfully killing Neal, a member of the television crew, and capturing Colonel Dale Murphy with the help of his father. He is later seen torturing Dale in his cabin, but Dale somehow manages to escape before engaging in a knife fight. During the fight, Dale manages to shoot three fingers in the chest with a shotgun, causing him to be presumed dead, but survives. In Wrong Turn 3: Left For Dead, he tries to kill a group of tourists and prisoners, and by the end of the movie he is killed, stabbed in the head with a hook and blown up on top of a car. Wrong Turn 4: Bloody Beginnings, the fourth installment in the franchise, is the story of mutant cannibals showing how they came to be. In Wrong Turn 5: Bloodlines, he is an antagonist alongside his two original brothers. During the episode, he was bombed, stabbed, impaled, and shot several times, but survived; He is also very skilled at devising traps that kill his victims instantly before he can finish his gruesome work on them. He also has an unnatural ability to regenerate. In Wrong Turn 6: Last Resort, he returns with his two original brothers. Saw Tooth Saw Tooth, like his two brothers, first appeared in Wrong Turn (2003). He is the tallest and strongest in the family and seems to be the head of his branch of the family as he is the three toed and one eyed older brother. He is killed at the end of the first film and only reappears in the first prequel, Wrong Turn 4:Inception, Wrong Turn 5: Bloodlines, and then Wrong Turn 6: The Last Hope. One Eye One Eye, the least harmful of the three, first appears in Wrong Turn (2003). Like Sawtooth, he dies in the first film and does not appear until the fourth, fifth, and sixth films. Maynard Odets A cannibal patriarch who appeared in the first two films and the fifth film. Other Cannibals Wrong Turn 2: Dead End is about a family of four cannibals named Ma, Pa, Brother and Sister. Two young siblings are shown to have an incestuous relationship; The sister even gets very jealous and angry when she catches her brother masturbating while he is spying on a human girl. Ma gives birth to a mutated baby before she (and the rest of her family) is killed. The second film ends with Three Fingers tending to the baby. The child is known as "Three Fingers" in Wrong Turn 3: Left to Die. Three Fingers is killed by a group of prisoners and his head is left as a warning. Three Finger finds Three Finger's severed head, which enrages him. He builds a shrine and keeps the head on display in his quarters. At the end of the third film, another cannibal appears and kills Brandon. The sixth film features Sally, Danny and Jackson. The Wrong Turn Foundation (2021) reboot features The Foundation, a self-sufficient civilization that has lived on the Appalachian Trail since the 19th century. They are hostile to any stranger who invades their remote community. Venable/Ram Skull The leader of the Foundation. Cullen / Boar Skull Foundation member Morgan / Deer Skull Foundation Standard / Wolf Skull Foundation member. Edyta member of the foundation. Ruthie A mute young girl who is a member of the Foundation.
